"The Mystery." This is the title of a very interesting story jucommenced in the Saturday Evening Post. Those fond of reading this class of literature, will find in this something above the usual order of stories.

New Store. W. A. Strong, Esq., formerly of Fremont, has just opened up a new afore in this place, in the room adjoining the Baird house. He proposes t tell the readers of the Journal a. I the particulars, as soon as he gets his goods properly arranged, &c.

A Horse Company. The patriotic people of Webster, failing to go their company accepted into service, have now earolled a cavalry company, and announce them-selves ready for the war. They are encamped at the Bowling Green fair grounds, and are commanded by Capt. M. Bruster. Sentenced. We learn from the Fremont Journal that two men were sentenced to the penitentiary, at the last term ter, assault and battery with an intent to commit a rape, for three years; Peter Lawless, grand larceny, stealing a yoke of oxen, for four years. A Good Book for the Soldiers.

We have received from J. B. Lippencott & Co. Publishers, Philadelphia, a copy of a little pamphlet of 94 pages, containing a complete system of instructions in the school of the soldier; with a preliminary explanation of the formation of a Battalion on parade, the position of the officers, &c.; being a first book or introduction to the authorised U S. Infantry Tactics. The manual is illustrated with 25 diagrams. Price only 25 cents, Camps in Ohio. There are at this time seven camps in Ohio-Camp Jackson, at Columbus; Camp Putnam, at that could be desired, Marietta ; Casap Anderson, at Leneaster ; Camp Wood, at Portland, Jackson county ; Camp Harri-1,700 men are in Washington City.

The Twenty-first Regiment.

Col. Norton's regiment has been ordered to report at Camp Wood, a camp which has been formed at Portland, Jackson county. The locality is said to be very healthy, and the water pure and in abundance. In a strategic point of view the location is probably the most important that borders on the miles, owing to the bend of the river. The regiment

Any person who has ever visited this part of the coast zen Fallmore, D. D., is one of the finest pieces of art that we have seen in a long while-"a regular speaking likeness," and such only as one may find in the Repository. To any person who has ever resided in western New York, we need not say there is a man more intimately connected with the rise and spread of Methodism than Mr. Fillmore; for he is, without doubt the first clergyman of any denomimation who received his license in New York State west of the Gennessee river. In point of litarary excellence, the Repository holds its wonted purity. "The Impending Conflict," is a well written article on the aim and rise of the great rebellion. We have read, also, with a degree of interest the "New York Literary Correspondence." Every well-regulated family should at least take one copy of the Repository, as the expense is only two dollars a year.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY, June 1881; Ticknor & Fields, Boston, Mass.

This is a number just suited to the times. "The New York Seventh Regiment," is a sprightly narrative of the passage of that deservedly popular corps to Washington. The writer is a member of the "Seventh," and tells his story in a style highly interesting in these times of war and wenders. Mr. Lowell has a very pungent article on "The Pickens | have but nine when done. and Stealin's Rebellion." It is brief, but there is a great deal in it. The writer recounts rapidly the events which have brought us to the present situation; and his moral is as unmistakable as if it were a bullet fired out of a riffed musket. Withal the article is as moderate as it is decided—it is only our frieads, who would fain have sneaked through the national troubles under cover of a compromise, that need be very violent now, or that insist the south shall be more than reduced to obedience. "Army Hymn," is the title a few choice stangas, by Oliver W. Holmes, which anybody may sing that knows Old Hundred. "Concerning Things Slowly Learnt' is another admirable essay from the pen of the "Country Farson." "Greek Linea" is a brief and thoughful esthetical paper. "The Rose Enthroned" is a poem. Two chapters of Mrs. Stow's "Agness of Sormatio" are given. "Denmark Vesey" is an account of the famous slave insurrection in Charleston. Remaining articles are "Napoleon the Third" and "American Navigation." Terms—one Third" and "American Navigation." Terms—one Copy one year, $5; two copies, $5; five copies $10.

CLEVELAND, May 25th, 1861. MR. Forron:- At 5 o'clock, p. m., of the 23d instorders were received at Camp Taylor for the 21st regiment to be in readiness to proceed to Columbus at 5 a. m. of the 24th. Therefore at 3 in the mornwere quartered, everything was in motion. Cooks were "hurrying up their cakes," Commissary Nortoo, of Company C, was flying about to see that each man had his rations, and the excited soldiers were engaged in packing blankets and extra duds. At the appointed bour everything was in readings. and at half past 8 o'clock the companies formed and marcchd out, receiving the cheers of the remaining companies who filed within the parade ground to give their comrades in arms a hearty farewell. They were led to the depot by Lolarid's brass band, and but little inferior in point of numbers to those of former occasions. Many shouts could be heard from the little boys, of "Bully for those sogers," "There go the chaps who will fight," The band played "Dixio's Land," as a delicate intimation that the brave men, if necessary, would go to that delightful country, through Baltimore or any other next week we shall have to exact our usual rates. After receiv-ing their arms, they marched for Camp Jackson to take up their quarters for the night, where they ar-rived about dark. Here the boys had rather a hard night's rest as there was no straw to be lad, but be ing very tired from the effects of the hard day's ride seemed contented with the "soft side o a plank" upon which to spread themselves. At about half past eight o'clock their rations were given them, consisting of a slice of baker's bread and butter, with

Notwithstanding the prospects of laving this march, and the hardships they had endured the night preceding, they were in good cheer, and seemingly anxious to be put forward into active service. There was no sickness in the company except a few who were complaining of cold contracted the night they lodged in Camp Jackson.—Young Blinn, of company C, was left behind with the measels. He is now getting better, and will join his company in a few days. On my roturn, I found all the flags in this city floating at half-mast for Col. Ellsworth. There are at present about 100 three year troops at Camp Taylor. How long they intend remaining is not known, but I presume until intend remaining is not known, bu: I presume until a full regiment is formed. At 3 o'clock this a. m., a

THE ACCOMMODATIONS. So much has been said in certain qua regard to the neglect of the troops, and their suffer-ing at Camp Dennison, that the people may have been led to form very erroneous ideas of the true state of affairs. In speaking of the accommonations for the soldiers, it should always be remembered that an army of twenty thousand men sprang into existence in Ohio in a single week. That there was some suffering at Camp Dennison during the first few days after the establishment of the camp, is beyond doubt, though even then it was very greatly exaggerated. The stories about the depler-able destitution in the hospitals, for example, were, of course, utterly without foundation. Now, how-ever, troops could not ask to be better quartered than they are at Camp Dennison; and those who comthey are at Camp Dennison; and those who com-plain there will certainly have a hard time of it when they come to the rougher realities of active service. Newark, N. J., June 6, 1860. MESSES, PERRY DAVIS & SON-Gentlemen-Allow Messus, Penny Davis à Son—Gentlemen—Allow nie, unsolicited, to send you a word of commendation for your Pain Killer. I have used it in my family these several years, and found, all ficlaims to be. For Rheumatism, Conglis, Colds, Burns, Choicra tendencies and difficulties, as well as discasses generally that prevails in families, I regard the Pain Killer as beyond all price, and as efficacious beyond any medicine within my knowledge. We keep it as our chief family medicine, and find its use in ordinary cases worth mass than any doctor. The testimony of others among my acquaintances and friends is equally favorable. Many clergymen have spoken of it in the highest terms clergymen have spoken of it in the highest terms as a family medicine. Missionaries in repeated instances have said to me in person and in their letters, that the Pain Killer was by far the best medicine used in heathen lands, and they use is for themselves and families, and administer it to others around them. Thus much I am inclined to say as an act of justice to yourselves, and as a benefit to others.
You are at liberty to use this testamonial, if of any service.
